SEVERAL JAIL TERMS GIVEN

LIQUOR LAW VIOLATOR AMONG THOSE SENTENCED.

FINES ALSO ASSESSED

W. W. Furlong Gets $100 And Six Months; Peter Carmichael Sentenced, Then Paroled.

Ross Albright, near Hopkins, was given a sentence of three months in the county jail in circuit court this morning when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor. The court also ordered Albright to turn over $100 to Frank Mahan of Hopkins to be used by Albright's wife.

George P. Wright, prosecuting attorney, told the court the circumstances in the Albright case were such he thought no moderation should be shown, while W. G. Sawyers, representing Albright, pleaded that it was Albright's first offense.

Arthur Cronk of St. Joseph pleaded guilty to transporting intoxicating liquor and was fined $500 and given a jail sentence of six months. Cronk in telling his story in court this afternoon said he accommodated a friend by getting five gallons of liquor and delivering it to him without pay. He also said he told his pal he didn't want to go into Nodaway County on account of the officers there being strict with liquor law violations.

W. W. Furlong was given a fine of $100 and a jail sentence of six months when he entered a plea of guilty to common assault. The original charge was assault with intent to kill but it was changed by Prosecutor Wright to common assault.

Peter Carmichael, charged with carrying concealed weapons, was fined $100 and given a jail sentence of six months. Carmichael was paroled on payment of $50 of the fine and costs and a stay of execution for six days was granted for this payment.

The cases against Dow Huntsman on liquor charges were continued on application and at costs of defendant.

The case of the State against Harvey Weir for carrying concealed weapons was continued.

Charley Bird entered a plea of guilty to selling and disposing of intoxicating liquor and was fined $200.

The case of State against Lewis Irby on a charge of fraud was dismissed.

Raymond Graves pleaded guilty to assault with intent to kill and was given a fine of $100 and a jail sentence of three months.

George Blazier was given a fine of $200 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor.

The state cases against Robert N. Barber, for embezzlement and forgery, were continued.

The following criminal cases were continued by agreement:

State vs. George Clemmons, possessing mash; State vs. Ovid Rhoads and Roy Langley, making intoxicating liquor, disposing of intoxicating liquor, and unlawful use of distilling apparatus, (three cases); State vs. Edward Schweikhardt, possession of intoxicating liquor; State vs. Jesse Gattin, possesion intoxicating liquor.

Donald Wilson, a barber living in Maryville, was arrested this morning on a capias when he failed to live up to the terms of a stay of execution which was granted at the last term of court. Wilson was fined $200 for possession of intoxicating liquor and was granted a stay of sixty days to pay the fine. The time had expired. The bond of Wilson was ordered forfeited and a writ of scire facis directed to the defendant and to his bondsmen, commanding them to appear in circuit court on the first day of next term and show cause why bond should not be forfeited and judgment rendered against them.

Bail of Fred James, on a charge of violating the motor vehicle law, was fixed at $750, which was given.

A motion for new trial was filed by the plaintiff in the case of W. A. Tindall against Florence Shullenberger.

Home National Bank vs. Ellis J. Lyle, et al, note, judgment given the plaintiff for $6,113 at 6 per cent interest.

The case of Fred James on a charge of violating motor vehicle law was set for next Saturday.

A motion for a new trial was filed in the case of Benton VanHorn against L. O. Thompson and others, by the plaintiff.

John T. Barker to Give Speech Here

Former Attorney-General Coming October 23.—Whitsell to Speak at Hopkins Thursday Night.

John T. Barker, former attorney general of Missouri and now director of law for the city administration at Kansas City, will speak in Maryville on Oct. 23, according to word received by Charles F. McCaffrey, chairman of the Democratic county comittee. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at the court house on that day.

Dr. J. C. Whitsell, Democratic candidate for representative in congress, will speak at Hopkins at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

LOCAL "BUGS" CHEER CARDS

MARYVILLE REJOICES WITH ST. LOUIS.

"ATTEND" BY RADIO

About Twenty Million Dollars Is Believed To Have Changed Hands In New York On Result.

Maryville, almost to a man—and woman, "attended" the final game of the World Series yesterday between the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees, for the baseball championship of the universe.

And when the last ball was thrown by Grover Cleveland Alexander and George Herman Ruth, the Bambino, was nipped in his attempt to steal second, for the last out of the series, making the Cardinals the champions of the world, then Maryville rejoiced, rejoiced almost as unanimously as St. Louis.

A few Yankee fans were to be discovered here and there, but they, down deep in their hearts, were glad that the Cards had brought to Missouri her first world's championship.

It is a certainty that 90 per cent of the radio sets in Maryville were tuned in yesterday afternoon on the seventh and deciding game in the New York Yankee stadium, overshadowed by Coogan's Bluff. Downtown, in and around every place that offers radios for sale, and in front of the Democrat-Forum, were other fans.

They listened tensely as the battle began, with Haines and Hoyt as the rival pitchers, each with a game won earlier in the series. They cheered when Ruth crashed out a homerun in the third inning, his fourth of the series. They cheered much more loudly when the Cardinals, in the following inning, scored the three runs, which were their only ones but which proved enough.

Through the rest of the innings, they continued to listen, with nerves on edge, apprehensive when the Yankees scored another run in the sixth inning, coming within one of tying the score.

Then that seventh inning, when Hainse faltered, the bases were filled with two out, and Alexander, the master, the Grand Old Man, who had pitched a full game and won it the day before, strode to the mound, struck out the menacing Lazerri, retiring the side. Those two remaining innings, the Cardinals failed to score off Pennock, who, meanwhile, had replaced Hoyt. Alex, the Grand Old Man, sold "down the river" by Chicago, was against willowy Herb, the American League's best. The last of the four walks given to Ruth, his attempt to steal, O'Farrell's throw, the cheers of the victors,—not until then did the Maryville fans relax.

Thank goodness, we can settle down again.

New York, Oct. 11.—Not less than twenty million dollars changed hands on the world series, which resulted in victory for the St. Louis Cardinals, after seven dramatic games. This was the estimate of Broadway gamblers today as the big pay-off began.

It was said that two million dollars were bet on yesterday's game alone.

The event thus became the greatest betting series on record in addition to being the richest. All attendance records were broken when a total of 328,051 persons saw the seven games, and the total receipts of $1,207,864 was another high water mark.

The best previously attendance record was established in the Giant-Yankee series of 1923 and the richest previous series was that between the Pirates and the Senators last year.

C. Edwin Wells returned Sunday morning from Atlantic City where he attended the American Library Association in session last week.

"CONVENTION WEEK" OPENS

FOUR MEETINGS TO FILL MARYVILLE WITH VISITORS.

BEGIN ON WEDNESDAY

Teachers' Attendance May Be Cut by Proximity of State Convention, but Program Will Draw Many.

One of Maryville's "big" weeks opened today.

Wednesday will come the vanguard of the teachers who will attend the annual meeting of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association. They will be in session Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Wednesday also will see the opening of the fourteenth annual convention of the Nodaway County Council of Religious Education, which will continue through Thursday.

A conference of the county school superintendents of the nineteen counties in the State Teachers College district will be held at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

And on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Missouri Library Association will hold its twenty-sixes annual state convention.

Under normal conditions, the attendance at the teachers' meeting would be 1,000 or more. This year, however, the state convention, is to be held at Kansas City, and this may draw some of the teachers in the southern part of the district who otherwise would come here. All teachers in the state are required by law to attend either their district or the state meeting. When the state meeting is in St. Louis, the attendance at the district meeting here naturally is greater.

The precarious condition of roads and bridges also may keep away some teachers who would come here if they could drive.

Against these handicaps, this year's meeting has the strongest program in its history, one fully as good as that which will be offered at the state convention, and those in charge expect an attendance of 800.

Attendance at the librarians' meeting also will be lessened because it follows so closely upon the national meeting in Atlantic City.

At the convention of the Nodaway County Council of Religious Education, advance estimates indicate an attendance of 300 delegates and visitors.

Many Cars Needed to Meet Teachers

Chamber of Commerce Will Again Be In Charge Of Transportation Of Visitors This Week.

Many cars will be needed to transport the visiting teachers from the trains to their rooming places during the Northwest Missouri teachers convention here this week. Because of the night trains running behind schedule, due to considerable "slow track" more cars will be needed than would be necessary if the trains were on time, for it probably will not be possibly for the same car to meet both the Wabash and Burlington trains.

All those who can furnish a car are urged to get in touch with Earl Barmann, chairman of the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, or the Chamber of Commerce office. If the roads continue to be muddy, drivers will not be expected to leave the pavement unless they wish to.

Rooms will be assigned at the convention headquarters at the First M. E. Church.

The approximate number of cars needed at each train will be announced tomorrow.

Barber Taken Back to State's Prison

Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell returned last night from Jefferson City, where he had taken Robert N. Barber back to the penitentiary after appearing here as a witness before the grand jury.

Robert Moody Fined by City Police Judge

Robert Moody was arrested last night by Officer Will Trullinger on a charge of drunkenness. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge before Judge J. H. Sayler in city police court this morning and was fined $5. The fine and costs amounted to $11.65.

Waterways Meeting Is Now Called Off

Conference Given Up In Favor of St. Louis Convention To Be Held November 22-23.

Kansas City, Oct. 11.—The proposed waterways conference scheduled for Kansas City this fall was called off definitely today in favor of the annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Association in St. Louis November 22-23. The Chamber of Commerce here, which was to have sponsored the conference, planned to have eighteen governors present. The governors instead will be guests of honor at the St. Louis convention, according to officials here.

REPEAL TO BE FOUGHT

PASTORS ARE ASKED TO SPEAK AGAINST PROPOSITION.

TO PROVIDE SPEAKERS

Organization to Defeat Proposition No. 4 Will Send Men to Community Meetings.

Pastors of the various churches in Nodaway County will be asked to speak on the subject of Propostion No. 4 (to repeal the Missouri liquor laws) from their pulpits Oct. 24, it was decided at a meeting of the county organization to defeat the proposal, held at the Methodist Episcopal Church this afternoon.

Attendance at the meeting, which had been called in an effort to have township committee members, who were named last week, confer here, was light because of the very poor condition of the roads. However, several additional plans for the campaign against Proposition No. 4 were made.

It was decided to ask the pastors to do something towards aiding in the repeal's defeat, and, following the suggestion made by a pastor-committee member, the date of Oct. 24 as one on which the proposition will be attacked was set. In the event there are churches that will have no service on that date the proposal will be discussed at those places on Oct. 31.

Mrs. Charles Gaugh, Mrs. Ellis Cook and Leslie Somerville were named members of a Speakers committee. They are aranging for twenty-five or thirty speakers in this county who will go to community meetings and made talks against Proposition No. 4. An effort is being made to learn of all community meetings throughout the county which are to be held before the November election. These meetings are being listed with Leslie Somerville.

Speakers will be sent to each of the community meetings listed and teachers in various school districts who desire someone to explain Proposition No. 4 at any meetings or entertainments can arrange with Mr. Somerville for speakers, it was announced today.

In addition to the speaking campaign, a newspaper publicity campaign will be conducted by a committee composed of Mrs. Howard Garrett and Ernest Wray. Pamphlets explaining Proposal No. 4 and a sample marked ballot will be printed and distributed throughout the county.

Efforts to raise $150 in Nodaway County will be started at once by a committee headed by Dr. C. C. James. The money will be used toward defraying printing and advertising expenses.

Uel W. Lamkin, president of the county organization to combat Proposal No. 4, presided at the meeting held this afternoon and called another meeting of the township committee members October 25.

Ft. Worth Minister Raises Defense Fund

Another Appeal for Money Made From Pulpit Yesterday by the Rev. J. Frank Norris.

Ft. Worth, Tex., Oct. 11.—Renewing his appeal for a defense fund from his pulpit heer yesterday, the Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, today was acknowledging receipt of several thousand dollars.

The minister goes on trial here November 1 on a charge of murder in the shooting to death of D. E. Chipps, lumberman, July 17. More than $11,000 was contributed to the pastor's defense fund after an appeal made a week ago.

J. Ross Fleetwood, county farm agent, went to Kansas City today on business.

KEYES PLAYS TRUMP CARD

ATTORNEY READS MRS. SEILAFF'S CONFESSION.

CALLS STAR WITNESS

Alleged Maker of "Miss X" Hoax Will Take Witness Stand In Aimee Semple McPherson Case.

Los Angeles, Oct. 11.—District Attorney Asa Keyes today reached the climax of his efforts to prove Aimee Semple McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff guilty of conspiracy to obstruct justice, when he called for the reading of a fifty-page secret statement made to him by Mrs. Wiseman-sielaff.

The district attorney ordered the statement read during the preliminary hearing of Mrs. McPherson, which entered its third week this morning. Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff made the statement to Keyes when she was preparing to "spring" an alleged "Miss X" hoax. The hoax, she confessed, later was intended to prove that Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus temple, was at Carmel-by-the-Sea with a woman who was not the evangelist.

The statement, according to the district attorney, is co-oberative of Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff's confession of arranging the hoax showing that she actually planned the manufacture of false evidence.

In her confession, Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff revealed that she was promised $5,000 by Mrs. McPherson for staging the hoax. Mrs. McPherson, according to the confession, coached her on details of the story she was to tell to the authorities.

In the statement to Keyes, Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff declared she was the sister of the "Miss X" and that she actually was the woman identified by several persons as Mrs. McPherson.

Immediately after the statement is read, Mrs. Sielaff will be called to the stand and she probably will be on the stand several days.

Put Ball Squarely Over Plate, He Says

Give Other Fellow An Opportunity To Knock Home Run, Rev. R. E. Musgrave Advises In Sermon.

"Don't be afraid to put the ball over the plate," said the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the First Christian Church, in his sermon yesterday morning on "Triumph Over Hinderances." "It's the pitcher who walks Babe Ruth who is booed by the crowd; he's the pitcher who is afraid to give the mighty slugger an opportunity to knock a home run."

"Put the ball squarely over the plate every time and give the other fellow a chance to knock a home run," the Christian Church minister continued. "Then if he doesn't knock it, it won't be because you didn't give him a chance. The world admires a person who gives the other fellow an opportunity to make good."

The Christian Church building, which is being remodeled and redecorated, will probably be ready for occupancy by October 24, it was announced yesterday. The program for the rededication services is now being prepared.

Nations of Europe Need More Credits

Assistant Secretary of Treasury Believes U. S. Would Greatly Profit By Financial Advances.

Kansas City, Oct. 11.—American capital is essential to put France, Belgium and Italy back on their financial feet, Garrard B. Winston, under-secretary of the treasury, declared here today in an address before the bankers club.

Winston said that either large credits or actual loans must be obtained by these countries in their program of stabilization in order that the value of currency can be maintained.

"If a time should come when credits are sought and if it should be desirable to float a loan in this country, it would be greatly to our interest in America that this help be extended, Winston said. "Nothing is more productive than the money which puts a country on its feet financially. We here in America have the money and with our large market abroad will benefit greatly through stabilization in Europe."

Urges Legion to War For Honest Elections

Pinchot, Citing Pennsylvania and Illinois Primaries, Calls Upon Vets To Protect Ballot Boxes.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—The American Legion must wage a peace-time war against cunning efforts to "buy and steal elections," Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania told the eighth annual convention of the American Legion at its opening session here today.

After a message had been read from President Coolidge urging the Legion to arouse citizens to vote, Pinchot, in his address of welcome, launched an attack on ballot frauds, mentioning the Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries as outstanding examples.

CORN CROP IS 72.4 PER CENT

GOVERNMENT PREDICTS 26.5 BUSHELS AN ACRE.

WHEAT AVERAGE UP

All Varieties Expected to Yield 14.6 Bushels—1,282,414,000 Bushels Oats Forecast.

Washington, Oct. 11.—The condition of the corn crop on October 1 was 72.4 per cent normal, indicating a total production of 2,69,988,000 bushels, the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture announced today.

With an acreage of 101,074,000 acres, the yield per acre will be about 26.5 bushels.

The wheat crop will amount to approximately 839,818,000 acres, the yield per acre of all wheat being about 14.6 bushels. The spring wheat crop is expected to total 213,336,000 bushels, with a yield per acre of 10.2 bushels.

A total production of 1,282,414,000 bushels of oats was forecast, with a yield per acre of 27.9 bushels.

More Than 400 to Be Called in Crime Inquiry

Chicago, Oct. 11.—More than four hundred subpoenas naming patrolmen, police officers, the elite and the humble of Chicago's bootlegging trade, were placed in the hands of federal officers here today as gangland scurries to cover before the approaching investigation of the city's alleged crime syndicate.

Nineteen Reported Dead in Hurricane

Many Ships Said To Have Been Wrecked In Dutch Waters In Week-End Disaster.

London, Oct. 11.—Nineteen persons are reported dead and many ships were wrecked in Dutch waters as a result of the gale and hurricane which swept over all Holland during the week end, according to a Central News dispatch. A great amount of property damage throughout the country is reported.

Adams Asks Borah For Investigation

Alleged Public Corruption Cause for Probe Committee's Action in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 11.—The Indiana political controversy took on a wider aspect today when a United States Senatorial investigation of alleged public corruption was requested of Senator William E. Borah by Thomas H. Adams, chairman of the probe committee of the Indiana Republican Editorial Association, around which the controversy rages.

Adams' request was contained in a reply to Senator Borah's request for information from him.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho announced this afternoon that he would give thorough consideration to the request of Thomas H. Adams for a Senatorial investigation of alleged political corruption in Indiana.

"I have requested full information from Adams and I will go over the case thoroughly," said Borah.

Girl Scouts To Meet.

The Girl Scouts will meet at 4:30 o'clock tomorow afternoon in the social service rooms of the Methodist Church, South, to make further plans for National Girl Scout Week.

JURY COULDN'T AGREE; QUITS

DAUGHERTY-MILLER CASE, A RECORD ONE.

OUT 65 HRS., 40 MIN.

Defendants Charged With Conspiracy In Acceptance Of Bribe For Passing War Claim.

New York, Oct. 11.—The jury in the Harry M. Daugherty-Thomas W. Miller conspiracy case today reported disagreement to the court and was discharged by Judge Julian Mack.

The jury had been out sixty-five hours and forty minutes.

New York, Oct. 11.—Jagged nerved and weary, the jury weighing for the last sixty hours the conspiracy case of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney-general, and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, returned to its deliberations at 10:10 o'clock this morning.

The twelve men carried their suitcases with them. They trudged into the jury room, tired lines showing on every face.

Judge Julian W. Mack had not arrived at the time the jury resumed its heated discussions. The defendants, however, with their counsel, paced nervously through the crowded corridors retiring later to their private rooms.

The length of time taken to date by the jury was said to have established a new record in New York, a previous case requiring a jury to stay out for thirty-nine hours. Nearly twelve hours have been spent in a futile endeavor to determine the guilt or innocence of Daugherty and Miller, charged with accepting a part of a $441,000 bribe for passing a $7,000,000 war seizure claim.

With one member near collapse in a smoke-filled jury room following hours of wrangling, the jury was dismissed at 10:50 o'clock last night until this morning by Judge Mack. Although the jurors declared they were hopelessly deadlocked, Judge Mack insisted that they continue deliberations until a verdict was reached. One of them, Henry Van Ost, declared that a verdict now would be the result of coercion.

Queen Marie and Her Son Won't "Make Up"

Mother Will Probably Leave For U. S. Tomorrow Without Reconciliation.—Final Plans For Sailing.

Paris, Oct. 11.—Queen Marie probably will sail for the United States tomorrow without effecting any reconciliation with her son, the former crown prince Carol, it appeared today.

Queen Marie, because of her position, cannot take the first step for a reconciliation and Prince Carol apparently is too proud to seek an audience with his royal mother.

The Rumanian queen spent the best part of today making last-minute preparations for sailing tomorrow. She remained at her hotel to supervise the packing of many trunks.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will occupy a suite on the Leviathan adjoining that of Queen Marie.

Grain Futures Act Is Held Up in Decision

North T. Gentry Prohibited From Enforcing Measure Against St. Louis And K. C. Concerns.

Kansas City, Oct. 11.—The Missouri grain futures act was dealt a staggering blow in federal court here today when three judges granted a defaulting judgment and restrained Attorney-General North T. Gentry fro enforcing the act against the St. Louis Merchants Exchange and the Kansas City Board of Trade. The purpose of the act is to restrain trade in grain futures by placing a tax on every transaction.

George Sisler Won't Manage Browns in 1927

St. Louis, Oct. 11.—George Sisler will not manage the St. Louis American League baseball club next year, Phil Ball, president of the club, announced today.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart.
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—For 23 years the government has been fighting to compel the meat packing industry to comply with its interpretation of the federal anti-trust laws.

The fight has been umpired, round by round, by a succession of lower courts, and now the federal supreme bench is about to be asked to take over the job.

The bell rang for the first round in 1903 with a suit for an injunction against Swift & Company, restraining various trade practices contended in violation of the Sherman Act. The packers fell into a clinch, consenting to a decree forbidding most of the practices complained of.

The packers won a round in 1905 when the government's case against Armour & Company and others fell through because the packers argued they had admitted their faults to the corporations commissioner and, having been witnesses against themselves, could not be prosecuted.

In 1910 the government brought another Sherman Act indictment but the packers were acquitted by a jury. In 1917 came a federal trade inquiry and the government won a round with a decree restraining the packers from "perfecting a monopoly."

Round 5 began in 1924 and is still going on. The packers' motion to have the 1917 decree set aside was denied and the case was taken to the District of Columbia court of appeals.

The next step is the Supreme Court.

Judge Makes Ruling Concerning Custard

Brocton, Mass., Oct. 11.—The momentuous quest "when is a custard not a custard," has been settled in court here.

Lester Kohn, concessionnaire, was arraigned, charged with selling "eggless custards" at the Brockton fair.

Municipal Judge King decided a custard wasn't a custard unless it contained at least one egg, and fined Kohn $10.

Princeton—Forty bushels of apples, with an average weight of one pound each, were raised on a farm near here.

Keytesville—Four new welcome signs will be erected near the city limits on highways leading into this city.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Washington—Stamping out bubonic and pneumonic plague throughout the Americas, just as yellow fever virtually has been stamped out, is a much more serious problem than is generally realized, according to public health directors of all the new world republics, who recently met here.

There are not many human cases of it at present in the western hemisphere, but experts agree that the rats at most seaports have it, and where it exists among rats there are no dissenters from the verdict that it is liable at any time to appear in its human form.

All rodents are subject to plague. In California, for example, the ground squirrels have had it for many years, having originally been infected, the American public health service feels certain, by rats, arriving on ships from the Far East.

At all events, every few years there is an outbreak of the malady, always has succeeded in preventing these outbreaks from reaching grave proportions, though in the last one, a year or two ago, there were between 20 and 30 deaths.

Medical science has made considerable progress in the treatment of bubonic plague cases and now saves about 50 per cent, but in a pneumonic plague epidemic nearly 100 per cent of the cases are fatal.

It is of historical record that in the world's greatest plague outbreak, in the middle ages, about a third of Europe's population died.

British Safety Men Removed From Mines

London, Oct. 9. — Great Britain's coal miners today prepared to employ the most formitable weapon they could use in their battle with the owners of the coal mines. The national delegate conference of miners voted to withdraw all safety men from the mines. Throughout the coal strike about 90,000 miners have been forking as usual. They are the so-called safety men who look after the machinery.

The Most Rev. Abbot Fidelis, abbot primate of the Order of St. Benedict, of Rome, who has been visiting at the Benedictine Monastery at Conception left today for St. Joseph where he will spend tonight and Tuesday. He will go to Peru, Ill., later.

Many Iowa Detours, Says Pearl Taylor

Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Taylor, Mrs. Ora McPherron and Opal and Charles Taylor returned last night from a motor trip to Des Moines, where they visited Mrs. Taylor's sister, Mrs. Margaret Baker and her mother, Mrs. J. C. Filbert, who formerly lived in Maryville. They were guests also of Mrs. Taylor's nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Baker.

The party left here Thursday. Roads then were in fair shape, Mr. Taylor said, but the many detours because of washed-out bridges increased the distance to about 200 miles. Returning, they drove through 120 miles of mud, one of the worst places being found just north of Hopkins.

Red Cross Notes

Volunteer workers for the American Red Cross, in chapters throughout the country, are being urged to concentrate their efforts this fall upon the production of garments to help clothe destitute children in Greece, Albania, Bulgaria and Constantinople during the winter. It is estimated at National Headquarters, Washington, D. C., that approximately 64,000 garments will be needed.

James L. Fieser, Vice-Chairman of the American Red Cross, states in a letter sent all chapter chairmen that urgent calls for clothing have been received from Red Cross chapters in insular possessions of the United States and that reports from abroad "indicate a great need of garments to protect the more or less destitute child population" of countries listed from the cold winter weather.

Production work carried on by volunteer workers is considered one of the strongest supports of the Red Cross. During the past fiscal year approximately 150,000 garments and 2,000,000 surgical dressings were made as part of the program. These were used to clothe the destitute in this country and abroad, in disasters and other emergency occasions.

Three Maryville Men Pass Another Milestone Saturday

Saturday may have been just an ordinary day for most Nodaway countians, but it was just a little out of the ordinary for three well known Maryville citizens, for whom October 9 meant another birthday.

The three were Judge J. H. Sayler, who was 80, Dr. F. M. Ryan, who was 57, and T. H. Cook, who was 56.

Mr. Cook, one of the "Cook Boys," was born in Bedford, Ia. He has been an instructor at the Maryville State Teachers College since 1907.

Judge Sayler was born October 9, 1846, at Farmington, Fulton Count, Illinois. He was reared on a farm and spent his early manhood as a farmer in summer and a rural school teacher in winter. On November 9, 1881, he moved to Maryville and in the following spring he moved to Hopkins, where he lived until his election as probate judge in 1894, when he moved back to Maryville.

Judge Sayler had studied law in Ohio and had served four years there as a justice of the peace. In Hopkins he served for five and one-half years as postmaster and he was still holding that office when he was elected probate judge. Since the expiration of his four-year term, he has practiced law, tended his garden and raised purebred chickens. He is now serving the city as police judge.

Chickens His Hobby.

Fine poultry is one of Judge Sayler's chief hobbies. For eighteen or twenty years he was secretary of the Northwest Missouri Poultry Association and he still has a fine flock of purebred Buff Wyandottes.

"Except for my game leg (in which he is troubled with rheumatism), "I feel about like I was 50," Judge Sayler said.

Judge Sayler was one of the guests of honor at a dinner given yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Anderson. The others were Mrs. C. P. Anderson, whose birthday fell on the same date, and George Sayler Hahn, Judge Sayler's grandson, who was 6 years old yesterday. Two geese from Judge Sayler's backyard furnished the central part of the meal.

Doctor Ryan was born in Adams county, Ohio, on October 9, 1869. With his parents and five brothers and sisters, he came to Missouri in a covered wagon, drawn by a team of mules, the family making the entire trip from Ohio in this equipage.

Doctor Ryan's father first settled on land in Nodaway County, west of Skidmore, but after a year he bought a farm in Atchison County, eight miles northeast of Craig. The public road adjoining this farm was the county line, and a short time later the elder Ryan bought another farm on the other side of the road, this time in Holt County.

Began Studies in Craig.

The son began his medical studies in Craig under Dr. Ernest Kaltenbach and then attended Ensworth Medical College in St. Joseph, from which he was graduated in 1892. He began practice in Quitman and remained there until 1912, when he moved to Maryville.

Doctor Ryan took work in the New York Post Graduate School in 1894. In 1895 he was married to Catherine Ellen Costello, who lived near Quitman. They have one son, Dr. Harold Ryan, now attached to the staff of Mayo Brothers' clinic at Rochester, Minn., and rapidly advancing in his profession.

Trailer Came Loose and Caused Accident

Motor cars hauling trailers are dangerous things to follow, especially on an up-hill grade, according to Robert Conklin, who with his wife, barely escaped serious injury following a collision near Wichita, Kan., several days ago.

Conklin was driving near Wichita when his car was passed by a Ford coupe to which a trailer was attached. When the coupe got about 40 feet ahead of the Conklin car the trailer broke loose and collided with the car in the rear. The Conklin car was badly damaged.

Bowling Green—Definite road plans for Pike County will be presented at a meeting in this city October 14.

Seymour—By a vote of nearly four to one, a $35,000 bond issue for the installation of a waterworks system, was carried.

American Business Expanding Rapidly

Country's Economic Condition Being Stabalized By Expansion of New Activities Survey Shows.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Amercian business and industry during the first nine months of 1926 expanded in new activities, further stabilizing the country's economic condition, the U. S. chamber of commerce announced in a business survey.

Employment has been greater this year than in 1925, payrolls larger, and production in industries reached a new high level, the chamber stated.

Department store sales have increased in volume, railroad car loadings are at a high peak, and virtually all commodities produced are actually passing into use.

RAINS DELAY STATE WORK

ROAD BUILDING SCHEDULE IS BADLY DEMORALIZED.

PROGRESS ON NO. 36

Paving Soon to Extend 45 Miles East From St. Joseph—Much Work Done on Route 1.

St. Joseph, Oct. 11.—With intermittent rains falling in northwest Missouri for more than a month, the state highway program in this part of the state has been delayed to a great extent, and it is feared that the season's schedule will not be completed before cold weather interferes. N. R. Sack, division highway engineer, says that little or no progress was made in the St. Joseph division (No. 1), which embraces Buchanan, Atchison, Nodaway, Holt, Worth, Andrew, Clinton, Caldwell, Daviess, DeKalb, Gentry and Harrison counties, in the last thirty to forty days, on account of wet weather.

In reviewing the major projects of the year, Mr. Sack said that up to Sept. 1 there had been 2,475 miles of the state road system of 7,640 miles, graded and made ready for hard surfacing in various parts of the state. The cost had amounted to $23,041,000, and up to the present, 3,134 miles of the system has been hard surfaced at a cost of $61,647,000. Bridges represent an additional outlay of $5,607,000. Of the entire state system there has now been 41 per cent of the highways hard surfaced, and almost that much in addition has been graded. There are now about 1,500 miles of road that has been graded and ready for surfacing as soon as funds are available.

Situation in This District.

In a summary of the work that has been completed or is in progress in this district, Mr. Sack says that between Oregon and Savannah, on route No. 1, a contract for 11.3 miles of paving has been completed by the Eberhardt Paving Company, and the road is now open for traffic between the two county seats. Some remaining work is yet to be done, and activities will be resumed as soon as possible. Contracts have been let and work started on the grading and bridging of route No. 1 from Fairfax, Atchison County, south to Craig in Holt County. The total length of this project is 13.38 miles, and with its completion the route will be entirely graded from St. Joseph to Tarkio. Surfacing will be done as soon as the money is available. A contract will be let soon for grading and bridging on route No. 9, Tarkio to the Iowa line. Highway No. 9 is a new state route, intersecting No. 1 at Tarkio.

South of St. Joseph, on route 1, work will be started on surfacing of the quarter-mile gap through Gower within the next several days, and as soon as the necessary arrangements are made for the right of way, probably not until next season, route 1, or the St. Joseph-Kansas City highway, will be completed from Saxton to St. Joseph. This project will include an overhead grade separation at the Burlington tracks, a short distance east of the city.

Good Progress on Pike's Peak.

According to Mr. Sack, good progress has been made on construction work on United States route No. 36, the Pikes PeakOcean to Ocean Highway. Between Osborn and Cameron, on route 36, the Metropolitan Paving Company has completed its contract of 9.6 miles of eighteen-foot pavement, with the exception of a short gap at Grindstone Creek, and another gap at the Q. O. & K. C. tracks. These are to be filled and the road soon will be opened all the way from St. Joseph to Cameron.

The same paving company is now at work on a 2.5-mile contract north and east of Cameron, and with favorable weather conditions, it will be completed before winter. This will give a paved connection between St. Joseph and Hamilton, a distance of forty-five miles.

AUNT HET

"I know it's my carnal nature, but it's hard for me to feel humble right after takin' a good bath."

'Copyright, 1925. Pub's Syndicate."

St. Joseph To Bethany

On route 4, St. Joseph to Bethany through King City and Stanberry, the C. H. Atkinson Paving Company has completed its 1.2 mile contract through the town of Stanberry and the S. J. Groves Company has finished a nine-mile contract north of Bethany. The completion of these projects provides a hard surfaced road from a point three miles south of the Missouri Iowa line to St. Joseph, with the exception of an eleven-mile gap in DeKalb County, by way of Clarksdale.

The Atkinson company also has completed eight miles of its 20.3 mile contract between Cameron and Gallatin, on U. S. highway No. 69. With favorable weather the entire stretch will be completed this fall. With the exception of five miles between Jamesport and Gallatin, a hard-surfaced road from St. Joseph to Trenton will then be available. Rights of way are necessary before this gap can be placed under contract.

Stout Funeral to Be Held Tomorrow P. M.

Managing Editor of Kansas City Star Dies At His Home Near Grain Valley Early Yesterday.

Kansas City, Oct. 11.—Funeral services for Ralph E. Stout, managing editor of the Kansas City Star, who died at his home near Grain Valley, Mo., early yesterday, will be held at the home a 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Stout who had been intimately associated with the Star and its founder, William Rockhill Nelson, since 1886, had been in poor health for more than a year. Death was due to heart disease.

The body was found by Mrs. Stout at Sni-A-Bar farm, the Nelson country estate. Mr. Stout had succumbed during the night.

Mr. Stout was born in Adrian, Mich., July 11, 1866. He was educated at the University of Kansas, and following his graduation became a reporter on the star. In 1889 he became city editor, and in 1905 was made editor, holding that position since. He was one of the largest stockholders in the Kansas City Star company, which recently purchased the property from the trustees of the William R. Nelson estate. In 1921 he compiled and edited a volume composed of editorials written for the Kansas City Star. He held offices in a number of publishers' and editorial organizations and was a director in the North American newspaper alliance, a syndicate.

Mr. Stout is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Franklin Gledhill, New York City, and a son, David Stout.

With the Candidates

Day by Day With the Republican and Democratic Candidates for Senator in Missouri.

HAWES

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 11.—A belated train from St. Louis, combined with a heavy downpour of rain that was general in Central Missouri all day, prevented Congressman Harry B. Hawes from filling his campaign engegament at Tuscumbia, Miller County, Saturday afternoon. Instead of making the trip to Tuscumbia, the Democratic senatorial candidate spent the afternoon resting from the fatigue of an unusually hard campaign week.

The courthouse here was filled to capacity Saturday night to hear the Democratic candidate for senator, many being unable to get standing room. His speech, in the main on national affairs, did not differ from those that he has been delivering. It was when he touched on the state administration that he interjected some warm comment on Gov. Baker and Senator George H. Williams.

Secretary of State Becker, he declared, had dared to disobey the mandates of the Governor and support Proctor for the Republican nomination for Senator and now all of the machinery of the state administration has been invoked to break and discredit Becker. It was treason, he said, for any Republican officeholder to go contrary to the administration in the nomination of a candidate for Senator.

He said in his references to the state administration and Senator Williams:

"Jefferson City formerly was the place where the business of the state was transacted; today it is the place where the business of the Republican organization is transacted. When the political button is pushed an appointee of the Governor comes to attention and shouts for Williams. Press another button and a Republican postmaster salutes the Governor's appointee.

Convict Labor.

"Here we have an institution in which our convicts are confined. It is now an institution which affords more competition of convict labor with free labor and industrial capital than any institution in America. Recently there marched from its walls a squad of convicts to take the place of free miners, and as they passed out they saw upon the gate a poster calling for the re-election of the Governor's Senator.

"Here the musical instruments are made for the coming campaign. Mayor Miller of St. Louis some time ago said that the 'Governor's Senator' was a piccolo player, but that instrument has been abandoned. Hyde was selected as the chief bugler, but he, too, has changed his instrument and now he plays the lyre. They have even taught an ignorant man like Remmers to strike a chord or two. On this new instrument there will be a grand chorus played for Williams by all the postmasters of Missouri and by all the appointees of the Governor. And why are we to have music of this kind in the campaign? Because it is diverting; it takes attention away from the issues. There will be an evasion of discussion of the tariff, of farm relief, of bureaucracy, of the Hamiltonian theory of centralization, of the scandals of the state administration and the scandals of the national administration.

State Employes In Campaign.

"In this city the general staff of the Republican party meets. It summons from official duty and sends into the political field an army now on the state pay roll and the army obeys—that is, all obeyed but one, Charley Becker, Secretary of State, whith whom I served in the Missouri Legislature, had the temerity to disobey the orders of the general staff and he supported Proctor in the recent primary. Immediately all the machinery of the Governor's office which he could control was put in motion to destroy Becker and his friends and bring them into subjection by the application of the political lash. Independence was a crime. Other institutions and other heads of departments might do as they please, provided they supported the Governor's appointee, but it was treason for any Republican officeholder in Missouri to refuse to support the 'Governor's Senator.' So an example had to be made of the Republican Secretary of State, who had refused to obey orders of the general staff.

Military Service For Women.

"In this city, during the Constitutional Convention, the Governor's Senator first attracted state-wide attention in a speech favoring military service for women. The 'Governor's Senator' was hell-bent on putting the League of Women Voters into the trenches, making litter carriers out of the W. C. T. U. and cooking crews of the Daughters of the American Revolution. This was the only and the greatest forensic effort of the 'Governor's Senator.' The high lights of Gov. Baker's administration are the appointment of the Senator and the creation of the office of inspector of beauty parlors.

WILLIAMS

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Oct. 11.—That Missouri, as well as Pennsylvania and Illinois has suffered from corrupt elections in the past was the basis of charges made by Senator George H. Williams against Harry B. Hawes in a speech here Saturday night.

"The history of fraud and corruption in St. Louis elections is a matter of general and w[illegible]spread notoriety," the senator said. "That history was made when Mr. Hawes was a member or president of the St. Louis board."

Declaring "a man's record is part of him," Senator Williams pointed out that the public may expect of an officer a similar service as he may have rendered in office previously.

The senator's speech, in part, follows:

"All honest men and women believe in honest elections. I say that as a matter of course. If there is one place where the adage applies that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty it is with respect to the purity of elections. It applies and has always applied in Missouri as well as in Pennsylvania and Illinois. In Pennsylvania and Illinois they debauched the primary election. In Missouri it was different. The history of fraud and corruption in St. Louis elections is a matter of general and widespread notoriety. That history was made when Mr. Hawes was a member or president of the St. Louis police board. Fraudulent and padded registrations, impersonation of voters, stuffing of ballot boxes, the co-operation of the police and election officials with thugs and ruffians—all this is part of our history in St. Louis.

"Mr. Hawes in his St. Joseph speech refers with levity and in a spirit of ridicule to an experience I had when I was a candidate for the nomination for state senator in 1902. I had been urged to enter that contest by Mr. Charles Nagel, Judge Benjamin Klene and Mr. Robert C. Day, who were acting as a committee from the St. Louis Republican Club. I have not referred to that experience at any time because it affected me and I knew the voters preferred a discussion of the serious issues which concern their welfare so much. I have been discussing the great issues of the campaign and will continue to do so. Mr. Hawes' connection with that experience of mine was very definite and vital and he has not forgotten it.

"Whether a candidate or not, a man's record is part of him. His character as a public officer as shown by his public acts and by the results of his administration of a public office becomes a matter of vital importance when that man offers himself for further public position. If his record is good, he is entitled to the benefit of it. If his record is bad, he should not attempt to cover it up, or by bluffs, threats or insinuations attempt to deter other men from discussing it. Nobody but a coward would try that.

"Mr. Hawes has a public record. He himself says he reviews it with "some amusement and some sorrow," but that it consists of old stories that are barred by the statute of limitations. There is no statute of limitations on the public acts of a public official. It is public property and is for the use and information of the public. I respect that a man's character is part of him and his candidacy. His record is put in issue when he announces his candidacy. I shall discuss it. I expect my friends to discuss it. If Mr. Hawes has any information which he thinks the people of the state ought to know about my work in the constitutional convention or my activity in St. Louis politics or elsewhere he should forwith impart it. As for me, I shall not be affected by his insinuations or implied threats.

"The facts which Mr. Hawes so lightly refers to are that I was assault- by election thugs at the polls in a Republican primary on the sixteenth of September, 1902. These election thugs came from the Delmar racetracks. They did not live in our ward. They were supporting an employee of the racetrack who was running for the nomination for state senator in a Republican primary. The Democrats had held their convention and had nominated a racetrack employee as their candidate for state seantor in the same senatorial district. I was opposing the racetrack candidate and was at the polls to protect the ballot box from fraud. The chief of police, a sergeant of police and police officers were present. The crooks were well known to the police as being non-residents of the twenty-eighth ward, but they were not molested in their operations. Mr. Hawes was president of the police board. He was the head of the police department of the city of St. Louis. Rolla Wells was not a candidate for office. The sergeant of police was required by his chief to make a false report of what occurred at the polling place that day. Nothing was done about it until Joe Folk was elected governor in 1904. He appointed a new police board and preferred charges against the chief of police for compelling Sergeant Dorsey to make that false report. At the trial of the chief of police I was called and testified as a witness of what took place. The chief of police was found guilty and was dismissed from the police force.

"What took place at the election that day resulted in the repeal of the breeders' law and the dissolution of the partnership between the racetracks and the state of Missouri. Under the terms of that partnership our state fair at Sedalia was largely supported by daily payments gathered from gamblers at the three race tracks in St. Louis.

"The incident which I have referred to is only one of many acts of violence perpetrated upon the honest voters of St. Louis during that reign of terror. It was just previous to that occurrence that Jim Butler was elected congressman in the twelfth congressional district in St. Louis by a majority of more than 3,500. He was elected as a Democrat in a Republican district. His election was contested by Mr. Horten, the Republican candidate. The election was thrown out in congress because of the frauds perpetrated and the report of the committee on elections in the national house of representatives is one of the most startling indictments ever prepared against such conditions in a free country. In the trial of that case Mr. Hawes testified that every member of the St. Louis police force was a member of the Jefferson Club."

REPUBLICAN PUBLICITY DEPT.
By Fred Hull.

"The music from the lyre is to be used to create a discord in Democratic harmony. No advance can be made by the 'Governor's Senator' until this harmony is destroyed. It is the line they cannot cross; it is the trench they cannot capture. It is fixed in the minds and in the hearts of the people of Missouri so firmly that they cannot be diverted from the task of restoring simplicity in government and honesty in its administration."

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G P PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of Seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creeping the stairs after the murder, and Mott questions all the servants and tells them to keep silent.

Cunningham gets a note from Anderson and goes to his house where Perry Heath suddenly appears out of the night and begins to talk.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

"Sure. But I don't want to go into details. I'm never coming back, why should I? I've lost Myra, she was all I cared for. Inman was in love with her, and—well, he was in love with her money, too. But I'm not going to blab about him. He can fight his own battles. It's the Moore baby I'm looking after. Oh, no, I'm not in love with her, but I won't see harm come to the child. I'll appear against Inman, rather than that. Now look here, Al, I can't wait any longer to see Sam now. You tell him I was here, and tell him what I've said."

"But, Lord, man, you can't go off like that! You've—why, you've knocked me galley-west, and I don't know what I ought to do—"

"You've no say in the matter. You tell Sam Anderson all I've told you, and you and he must work together to get that little girl freed of suspicion. If you don't—or can't, I'll appear in propria personæ and fix things up myself."

"But—but, tell me more. How did you get out?"

"Walked out, of course. And Larry locked the door behind me."

"Who painted her face?"

"Larry, of course. And he set up that fool card, thinking he could implicate me."

"And you went off, rather than testify against the man who killed your wife! Who desecrated her dead body with that ghastly painting! And who tried to make it seem that you were her murderer! I can't swallow all that, Heath!"

"No, I suppose not." Heath spoke wearily, and brushed back the long lock that fell over his brow. "But Cunningham, it's because you can't understand a man of my temperament. My wife is dead, nothing can bring her back to me, and rather than go through the harrowing scenes of inquests, detectives, trials and interminable questioning, I'd rather get out and leave it all. You know my beliefs about immortality and all that. Or rather you know I don't believe in it. To my mind, Myra is gone and gone forever. That clay is no more my wife than any other bit of earth. I want her properly honored and decently buried, but all that will be attended to, I know. For Larry is her heir and her kinsman, and he will look after such matters properly. I shall go off by myself and begin a new life far away from here. I've no ties in Gaybrook Harbor,—on the contrary, it holds for me only horrors and sad memories. I never should have reappeared at all except that I fear for Bunny's safety. But if you and Anderson give a true report of my appearance here and state that I vow and declare that I saw Larry Inman kill my wife, I think there can be no further question of Bunny's guilt. It's too absurd to think of that child in connection with it, but Mott is stubborn, and having the idea in his head he won't give it up. However, if the persecution of Bunny goes on, I will come out in the open and protect her. That would mean entire exposure of Larry's guilt. Whereas, if Bunny is exonerated, perhaps Inman can get away with a not proven case. Oh, well, do what you can." And, to Cunningham's amazement, he found himself alone!

Heath had disappeared, silently, as he had come. He merely rose suddenly and stepping down from the porch had walked away so rapidly into the darkness of the shrubbery on the lawn, that Cunningham scarcely knew which way he went.

He rose and peered into the shadows. There was no use in pursuing Heath, he never could find him in the darkness of the night. And as to raising a hue and cry, Cunningham didn't know whether that was his duty or not.

He sat down again, dazed and worried. It all seemed like a dream. He could hardly believe that Perry Heath had really been there, and had told him such an extraordinary tale.

His brain was bemused, his usually alert faculties stunned, and the more he thought it all over the more it puzzled him.

He wished he had rushed after Heath as he went away, wished he had raised an alarm, even if he hadn't caught the man. The story was fishy,—that's what it was,—fishy. And there he had had a chance to distinguish himself by catching and holding the elusive Perry Heath and he had let the chance slip through his fingers. He should have grabbed the man, and called for help from the servants of the Anderson household. Those servants were so well trained that they would never come unless summoned, but a cry of alarm would have brought them to his aid. He ought to have held Heath prisoner, at least until he could have proved his story or had Larry Inman called in to disprove it.

Altogether, Al Cunningham was pretty well disgusted with himself, and in his brain was a half formed resolution to say nothing of the matter to Anderson.

This was a dangerous thing to do, for Heath had commanded him to repeat his version of the affair, and at heart, Cunningham was a bit of a coward.

He was afraid of Heath, who had seemed very stern and determined. On the whole, it would doubtless be better to tell Anderson the whole story. He would blame him, for not nabbing Heath, but that could not be helped now.

He was still mulling over the matter, when Anderson arrived.

"Hello," he said, "glad to see you, Cunny. Sorry to be a bit late, but I had to take a detour. And I'm hungry as a hunter. Come on in the house with me, and we'll have a bit of supper together, while we talk. Though I've little to tell and I suppose you have less. The thing is getting on my nerves. It really begins to look desperate for the little girl. I heard——"

(To be continued.)

I'm never coming back, why should I? I've lost Myra, she was all I cared for.

Norway Speculating on Marriage of Prince

Daughters of Swedish Prince Are Considered Possibilities—Young Man Very Popular.

Oslo, Sept. 8.—Norways royalty and smart social set is much interested this fall in the matrimonial intentions of Crown Prince Olav who is one of the most dashing and handsome of Europe's eligible princes.

Prince Olav was 24 last July. Everyone hopes that before long he will choose a bride but just whom he will choose is a matter that is subject for much speculation in Norway.

When the Swedish Prince Carl, a son of the late King Oscar II of Sweden, came to Norway last autumn with his two daughters, it was believed that one of these princesses would be chosen. This speculation was given added impetus when the Crown Prince had himself photographed in full uniform with all his orders on his breast. Photographing of members of the Royal family is very uncommon in Norway.

Hopes were wrecked when Prince Carl and Princess Ingeborg, King Haakon's sister, returned home with their daughters unbetrothed.

More recently, came the announcement that Prince Carl with his consort and daughters was again to visit the Norwegian court. Many were again certain that the engagement would be announced, but there was another disappointment. After 8 days' stay, Carl, Ingeborg and all three daughters left for home, without anything happening.

Rumor now asserts that these visits were merely intended to conceal a not confirmed plan, which is said to be an alliance between the Norwegian Crown daughter Ingrid, a young and beautiful princess.

Crown Prince Olav is very popular in Norway. He is expert in ski-ing, rowing and sailing. He will be the first Norwegian King after the lapse of 500 years, who will speak the unadulterated Norwegian language.

In Norway it would be hailed with unmixed satisfaction if he should choose a Swedish princess as his consort. It would further strengthen the good relations existing between Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

His father, King Haakon VII, who in 1905, was elected king of Norway by a plebescite of the Norwegian people, is son of the late King of Denmark, Frederik VIII. The prince's mother, Queen Maud, is a daughter of the British King, Edward VII.

PROFITEER IN SOVIET RUSSIA

NEPMAN OFFERS PROBLEM FOR THAT COUNTRY.

HOLDS RETAIL TRADE

State and Co-operative Groups Slowly Winning Over Dealers Who Prey On Peasants, However.

Moscow, Oct. 11.—An impressive picture of the quickened development of Russian economic life is manifested by the figures of the industrial and trade turnover of the Soviet Socialist Republic.

While the general turnover in 1924-25 was 20,375 million roubles, the first six months of the current year show a turnover reaching already three-quarters of the total of the previous year. Out of 15,435 million roubles turnover of the first half of the year, the state's share is 7,140 millions; the cooperatives 4,334 million, leaving only 3,963 million roubles for the private capital trade.

A complicated system of economic measures permits the state to dominate the wholesale market, where the role of the private capital is limited to about 10 percent. But while the wholesale market is concentrated almost entirely in the hands of some fifteen state syndicates and is easily regulated by the government, the retail trade remains one of the things the Soviets did not find it so easy to master.

The more flexible and adaptable private capital, with its vast experience, is more adapted for the manoeuvering on the retail market than the slow state and cooperative capital. Therefore the peasant market is in its largest part the prey of the "nepman" (profiteer or local dealer) who holds 44 percent of the retail trade, while the state has in its hand 23 percent and the cooperation 33 percent. These figures are undergoing a steady change in favor of the state and cooperation.

However, the "nepmen" are still strong. The state gives its adversary financial support in the form of credits, opened to them by the state bank and organizations and by the cooperation. This dependence of the private capital on state credits and on the state industry is used as one of the means to regulate the prices on the industrial market.

The private merchant receives his share of goods from the state syndicates on conditions of a limited surplus profit exceeding, however, from two to three times the profit permitted to the state and cooperative trading organizations.

The constant struggle led by the Soviet government for the decrease of prices is baffled by the goods famine, which became particularly acute during the current winter and spring, threatening the very stability of the Soviet currency.

More energetic measures were taken to run the actual grain purchasing campaign in a more expedient and rational way this year than that of the previous year, when numerous organizations on the part of the state and cooperative capital competed with each other, as much as with the private trader and brought disorder in prices.

This year the number of organizations representing the state have been limited to the Khleboproduct (Grain Co.,) and State Bank.

The share of the Soviet Union in the world trade slipped from 4 percent of the pre war days to ½ percent in 1925, the foreign trade is considered as one of the principal tools for the reconstruction of the industry and revival of the industry and revival of the economic life of the country.

The necessity to speed up the development of the foreign trade is one of the principal problems which is now in the limelight of the government of the Soviet Republic.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

Ask Gaugh & Evans or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days.

One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

DIET AND HOT TOWELS RELIEVE COLITIS

This Distressing Ailment May Be the Result of Some Other Trouble Which Needs the Careful Scrutiny of a Doctor.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

I have a letter from a reader in Ohio asking for an article on colitis. She wants to know what is the proper treatment for this ailment.

Anatomists divide the intestinal tract into two parts. The upper part is known as the small intestine. The lower part is the large intestine, or, as it is usually called, the colon.

The colon is lined with a mucous membrane just as all of the passages of the body are lined. For instance, the bronchial tubes are lined with a mucous membrane. This membrane, no matter where it is found, is liable to infection and to catarrhal inflammation. When the lining of the bronchial tubes is involved in this way we call the disease bronchitis. When the lining of the large intestine is infected and inflamed we call the disease colitis.

Doctors classify diseases in a general way as acute or chronic. We have an acute bronchitis, such as follows a cold. We have chronic bronchitis, such as old people suffer from a good many times.

Likewise there may be an acute colitis, which is described as "dysentery." Then we have chronic colitis, particularly mucous or muco-membranous colitis. Undoubtedly it is this particular form of colitis which my correspondent wishes to have described.

May I say in the beginning that mucous colitis is a very obstinate ailment? Even though it may not be serious so far as life is concerned, it is very difficult to treat.

Unfortunately, there may be some underlying disturbance of a serious nature. A growth in the pelvic region may place pressure upon the colon or may involve the colon. This is why the wise doctor will make a thorough examination to be sure that the colitis is not secondary to something more important.

There are just enough uncomfortable symptoms associated with mucous colitis to keep its victim worried and unhappy. There is a feeling of discomfort in the abdomen and occassional attacks of colic. These symptoms act as a constant reminder of the disease. In consequence the victim has his mind on himself all the time.

These uncomfortable symptoms are made worse every time there is the slightest indiscretion in diet. Excitement of any sort is apt to bring on an acute attack of colitis.

Colitis may not have diarrhea as a constant sympton. On the contrary there may be periods when the bowels will be quite constipated. As the disease progresses, however, constipation is rarely present, and a diarrheic condition of the bowels is the rule.

There are few diseases which have been more discussed as to the best method of treatment. I shall try to outline a procedure which will add to the comfort of the patient. It will not do away with the need of the physician by any means, because it is important for the family doctor to have constant knowledge of the condition of the patient in order to prescribe intelligently.

If there is much pain, and especially if there is any degree of fever, the patient should stay in bed. Rest and quiet are of the greatest importance.

The colicky pains are often relieved by the use of hot fomentations applied to the abdomen. A largt towel can be wrung out of water as hot as can be borne, and placed over the abdomen. Over this may be placed a dry towel. As soon as the heat subsides the towel should be dipped again in the hot water. Bear in mind all the time that it is heat which is the important thing.

I will reserve my comments on the diet for another article. I simply wish to say this, however, that all foods which may contain coarse material should be strained before eating.

Half of Spaniards Are Unable to Read

Percentage Of Analphabets In One Province Is More Than Seventy-Five Statistics Show.

Madrid.—Fifty to sixty percent of the Spanish people do not know how to read.

From the latest statistics, it appears that in one province, the province of Jaen, the percentage of analphabets reaches seventy-five per hundred inhabitants.

This high percentage is due to the comparatively small number of schools in Spain.

The province of Alava which has the smallest percentage of analaphabets, twenty-seven percent, possesses about thirty schools per ten thousand inhabitants.

It has been figured that there should be about three million scholars in Spain at the present time but there are only two million and a quarter.

The attention of the government has been brought again to this important subject of the primary instruction, and it is expected the construction of new schools simultaneously with the appointment of masters will be pushed so that within a maximum of ten years, Spain will have solved one of the problems which are so vital for the progress of a country.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Can Society Make Us Abolish Marriage and Morals?

Four writers—one a woman of exalted social position—another an internationally famous judge—the third and fourth the greatest social novelists in America—give their authoritative answers in the four greatest literary features that have ever been published in a single magazine.

JUDGE BEN B. LINDSEY on The Moral Revolt

Mrs. PHILIP LYDIG on The Tragedy of Gilded Youth

OWEN JOHNSON'S GREAT STORY "Children of Divorce"

RUPERT HUGHES' LATEST NOVEL "We Live But Once"

IN a democracy the mass of the people are given to imitation of the few. The few in America are the idle rich, who, in their search for new sensations, flamboyantly place themselves not only above the law, but outside the moral code that society has evolved for its own discipline and salvation.

What once were secrets held inviolate are today openly discussed; habits of life once surreptitiously indulged are today boasted of customs that have their roots in the safety of society are boldly being displaced by a code that justifies "anything you can get away with."

Whence came this amazing change in our manners and customs, no one knows. One declares it to be the direct result of the unbalancing of society by the Great War; another traces its origin to the possession of more wealth, almost overnight, on the part of vastly more people than ever before.

And no one is better placed to produce actual evidence of the change than Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of the internationally famous Family Court of Denver.

A tolerant man, an understanding man, but more than all else, a brave man, he is presenting that evidence—and his conclusions—under the startling title, "The Moral Revolt," in the frankest series of articles that have ever appeared in a magazine.

Case after case from his own Court, related in all their illuminating details, are offered by him in support of his belief that a new code of morals, particularly in relation to sex, is being evolved under our eyes today.

And in further support of Judge Lindsey's belief, Mrs. Philip Lydig, all of whose life has been spent in the world of fashionable society here and abroad, comes forward with an article entitled, "The Tragedy of Gilded Youth," in which she too cites case after case of youthful destruction as a result of young people growing up in the atmosphere that surrounds their rich and idle elders.

Nor is that all. For in the fascinating form of the novel, Mr. Owen Johnson and Mr. Rupert Hughes, themselves familiar with all strata of society, present dramatic pictures of just what is proceeding on the inside of that society. Their novels, "Children of Divorce" and "We Live But Once," are written with no less frankness and first-hand knowledge than the articles by Judge Lindsey and Mrs. Lydig.

In addition to these contributions of the deepest human interest, the same magazine offers, in its November issue, the best and latest work of the most popular novelists and short-story writers—among others, Struthers Burt, Robert Benchley, Arthur Mason, James Hopper, Virginia Dale, Margaret Culkin Banning, and Samuel Scoville, Jr.

Quick heat-More heat

from the Dome Heat Intensifier

The practical advantages of the Green Dome Heat Intensifier offer increased heating facilities that no other furnace possesses.

The sloping walls of the Dome actually add 40% to your heating results. Notice that the walls slope OVER the flame. This means quicker heat.

Further the heated gases in the Colonial cannot rush out of the heat chamber. They are held in the top of the dome until thoroughly consumed.

No other furnace can give you the heating capacity that the Colonial does for no other furnace has this special feature.

Especially suited for oil burner installations. See your nearest dealer

Local Osteopath to Memorial Dedication

Dr. George C. Eoff, local osteopathis physician, has been invited to attend the opening of a century-old log cabin which was recently transported from Jonesville, Va., to Kirksville, Mo., a distance of nearly 1,000 miles. This is probably the longest journey ever made by one of the original, old log houses built by the pioneers of Virginia.

To bring the cabin to Missouri required the transportation of 33,000 lbs. of logs for the building and 11,000 lbs. of stone for the fireplaces. All of this material had to be hauled ten miles over primitive roads to a railroad, in itself a huge task.

The purpose of bringing this cabin to Kirksville is to build a shrine for Dr. Andrew T. Still, the father of osteopathy. He was born in this log cabin in 1928. His father, Dr. Abram Still, was sent by the Methodist church to north Missouri as a medical missionary. The family moved to Macon County in 1836, making them real pioneers.

It was at Kirksville that Dr. A. T. Still developed the science of osteopathy. It was there that he did his early work, established a college and developed a profession that is now legally recognized in every state in the Union and many foreign countries.

Dr. Still died in 1917 and his son-in-law, Dr. Geo. M. Laughlin, is now president of the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery. Dr. Laughlin is bringing the cabin to Kirksville to place it in a park near the college as a shrine at which thousands of osteopaths and patrons of osteopathy will pay tribute every year.

This cabin will be opened to the public for the first time on the occasion of the 1926 Convention of the State Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Oct. 14-16.

NODAWAY COUNTY FARM NEWS

By BILLY TILSON.

W. R. Linville and sons, of Skidmore, shipped in several load of cattle recently. They will be kept on grass until late fall then will rough them through the winter on stockfields with plenty of hay and put them in the feed lots in the spring to be rounded up to be returned to the market with several hundred pounds of prime beef added. They say that there has been 25 cars of stock cattle shipped into that community of late and farmers in general are predicting better prices and more successful feeding. The Linville's have 5 load of steers that have been on feed for some time and they will be shipped to the market soon.

Van Goslee, northeast of Skidmore, has seven load, of as well finished steers as you will ever see in one feed lot. These steers have been dry fed all summer and will now weigh over 1400 pounds. Nearly everyone is a white face and they are a beautiful bunch to look upon. These cattle will be shipped to Chicago and if they want corn-fed beef up there they will find it in this shipment.

Uba New, west of Skidmore, has over 1000 head of hogs on his farm and 6 car loads will soon be ready for the market. He already shipped out several loads of hogs this year. Mr. New raises all his hogs and raises most all the feed for them. He has over 200 brood sows at the present time and now has 250 head of fall pigs. Mr. New, says "raise your hogs and feed and you will gather in the bacon." He also has 100 head of steers that will be shipped to the market soon.

A. F. Howden, who has been in the seed business at Skidmore for several years, will retire from the business. He has been interested in furnishing good seed corn for the farmers of this and adjoining counties and has made quite a success of his task. He has been looking over the corn and finds that it will be quite an effort to get several hundred bushels together and at his age it is a large undertaking and so will retire from the business. Those that have been buying seed from Mr. Howden for years will be sorry to learn of his decision. His seed orn was always picked with great care and those who used it say every bushel was nearly 100 per cent proof.

Dock Peters, east of Skidmore, has graded the road at the corner west of his farm so as to make it safe for motor car drivers.

A force of men were fixing the large fill north of the Dempsey farm, east of Skidmore Friday. The heavy rains made that place dangerous for traveling. We found several dangerous places over that way but everyone is doing all that is possible to get the worst places safe for crossing.

Lon Hughes, northwest of Maryville, put in 15 acres of fall wheat last Friday and expects to put in more when weather is favorable.

Mr. A. Walk, north of Maryville, intends to put in quite an acreage of fall wheat and has the ground ready for sowing.

New Law Suit Trick Disclosed at Meeting

Cleveland, O., Oct. 11.—A new trick used by ambulance chasing lawyers to obtain personal injury suits against local transportation companies, was reported today at the American Electric Railway Association. T. C. Nelson, of East St. Louis, Ill., told the story.

The trick is to use two "runners." One, posing as a company representative, creates resentment against the company and disappears. Shortly thereafter, the second "runner" shows up and, finding the aggrieved person still angry against the company, closes a contract for a personal damage suit on a fifty-fifty basis.

Eldon—Dairy experts of Springfield met with the Chamber of Commerce here recently to discuss the establishment of a cheese factory in this city. The proposition is being met favorably.

Lexington—Preparations are being made for rural school exhibits to be held as part of the Lexington Agricultural Exhibit.

Japanese Prince Will Wed; Selects Bride

Tokyo, Oct. 11.—A list of prospective brides for Prince Chichiby, second son of the Emperor and Empress of Japan, has been decided on and will be presented to the "sportsman prince" in England, according to reports in the vernacular press.

Viscount K. Matsudaira, a high official of the Imperial Household and attached to the Prince's staff, has been discussing the question of the Prince's marriage with Baron Omeri, the Empress' steward, according to the report, and will sail for England in a few days to submit the list to the Prince who will be allowed to select the girl he desires from the names submitted.

Kenneth—Several thousand dollars will be spent to improve the hotel building here, converting it into a modern hostelry.

Columbia—James P. McBaine, dean of the law school of the University of Missouri, was named president of the Missouri Bar Association.

Just a Kid and a Puppy

Little Billy isn't feeling so terribly playful right now, but Fido—or Sport or Buster or whatever his name is—wants to start something. Whatever he's suggesting doesn't seem to make much of a hit with his little master, anyhow.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Rather unexpected strength in wheat carried all grains to a higher close on the Board of Trade today. However, the volume of trade was rather late as traders refused to make any definite committments fearing that the government report to be published late in the afternoon may contain a surprise. Tomorrow's holiday also took off some of the edge.

Wheat closed 1 to 1⅜ higher than Saturday. There was no premium at any time during the session. Cash prices were unchanged.

The large receipts of corn had no effect on the price of that grain here. It closed 1¼ to 1⅜ higher on the strength of wheat. The cash article was steady to ½ higher Unfavorable news on the Illinois oats crop gave that cereal a firm tone. Cash values were steady to ½ higher while futures closed 1 to 1⅛ up.

Provisions were up on the better hog and cotton prices but lost some of the gains on rather free selling.

19 Records Broken in World's Series

Attendance and Gate Receipts Set New Mark. While Babe Ruth Shatters Ten Others.

New York, Oct. 11.—The world series that closed Sunday with the spectacular triumph of Rogers Hornsby's Cardinals, witnessed the shattering of more records than any other championship battle in baseball history. Nineteen records were smashed and three others tied.

New marks for attendance and gate receipts were set by the outpourings of 328,051 fans who paid $1,207,864 to witness the seven games. The attendance of 63,600 and receipts of $201,828 in the second New York game, shattered all single game marks, while St. Louis crowds broke the sportsman's park attendance record three days in a row. Cold and rainy weather kept down attendance at the final two games here and prevented the figures from going much higher.

Babe Ruth's mighty bat was the chief record breaker on the field, the Yankee slugger shattering 10 records outright and equalling three others. Participating in his seventh series, itself a record the Babe blasted three previous home run marks off the books with three circuit clouts last Wednesday and a fourth Sunday, bringing his record for all series competition up to eight.

This slugging contributed toward the breaking of three extra base-hitting records and the equalling of one other. The Babe aided to his collection of record performances by scoring four runs in one game, driving in the same number, receiving 11 bases on balls, including four Sunday, and bringing his all-series total of walks up to 26. His fourth game slugging was the main factor in a new club total base mark of 28 made by the Yankee.

Lester Bell was the only Cardinal to figure in the record work, equalling the mark of Elmer Smith, made in 1920, and Ruth by driving in four runs in the sixth game.

TEAM NEARLY IN ITS STRIDE

S. T. C. BEARCATS IMPRESSIVE IN VICTORY SATURDAY.

THE OSTEOPATHS FALL

Strong Kirksville Eleven Is Unable To Stop Green And White Charges. —Cape Girardeau Next.

The Bearcats are beginning to hit their stride.

Saturday afternoon the State Teachers College football team played an excellent brand of the gridiron game and trounced the invading Rams from the Kirksville Osteopathic College in a 13 to 0 game on the local field.

But they haven't yet hit their full stride. This is not the opinion of one person; it is the idea of several, who know football as the game should be played.

Tad Reid, Warrensburg coach, who refereed the game Saturday afternoon, said that the Maryville team is yet a team in the making, and that games later on in the season will find the men of Coaches Lawrence and Jones playing a far better brand of ball than they showed in this game.

Nevertheless, they played good football Saturday. With the exception of one or two faults, the Bearcats played a game of football which met with the approval of coaches and fans alike.

"Spiking" Not Perfected.

The spiking in the backfield was a little ragged Saturday. There were several instances wherein a spike was only half a spike, and throw for loss resulted.

And the Bearcats might have been more successful on end runs. But Saturday's game was no fair test. In practice last week on a dry field, the showing was much better.

With the exception of these two things, the Green and White played mid-season ball Saturday. And the beauty of it all is that both of these negative factors can be remedied. Within the next two weeks the fans are more than likely to see a 100 per cent improvement on interference and a like betterment in the skirting of the ends.

The game Saturday proved that the Bearcats come from a line of mudhens. Slippery footing, monstrous puddles, and a wet ball proved no great handicap to the College eleven. The backs hit the line with just as much power as they have displayed in scrimmage on a dry field, and there were several instances where runners cast out their pontoons and skimmed through puddles of muddy water for first down and more.

A Substitute Brightest Star.

The stars of the Maryville team were numbered by the men who played in the game. There were some, it is agreed, who shone with a greater brilliancy than others, but there was no shirking. Every man played his position well.

But there is one lad who will be mentioned. His name is Wilson; "Sheeney" Wilson, if you please.

Now, "Sheeney" Wilson is a substitute backfield man. He understudies "Ted" Search, or has for the last two weeks. "Ted" was kept out of the game Saturday, and it fell to the lot of "Sheeney" to carry the burden of right halfback. And did he carry it? Boy, he juggled it. Yes sir, he played as a veteran, and it was after a driving plunge through a tightened Kirksville line that "Sheeney" scored the second and final touchdown of Saturday's game. More power to this lad from Trenton.

Both of the Maryville touchdowns came in the second period. Late in the first quarter, Willoughby, Maryville quarter, made a sensational 25-yard run through a broken field. A moment later, Mesmore, Kirksville back, muffed O'Banion's punt, and Graham, the Bearcat center, was on the ball in a jiffy. Maryville worked the ball to the 3-yard line and then lost it on downs.

Eads Makes First Score.

Mesmore punted and the ball was Maryville's on the Ram 21-yard line. Then the quarter ended.

The second quarter began with Maryville hitting off tackle, guard, and through center, until Captain "Ikey" Eads split left tackle for the first touchdown. A moment later he kicked perfectly for extra point.

The second Maryville marker came with but 5 minutes left in the half. Line plunges, with Wilson featuring, were responsible for it.

Reid refereed a good game. Coach Poland of Missouri Wesleyan College umpired as well. W. N. Deatherage of Maryville was head linesman.

The Maryville stands were packed in spite of the inclement weather. The stands on the other side of the field were also well filled.

This week the Bearcats play Cape Girardeau in Maryville Friday afternoon. This will be the first conference game of the season, and will be a feature of the three-day meeting here of the teachers of Northwest Missouri.

In Baseball's Hall of Fame

THE HISTORY OF GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER, THE 1926 HERO.

Born at St. Paul, Neb., February 26, 1887; bats and throws right-handed; height 6 feet; weight 185 pounds; started his baseball career with Galesburg, Ill., in 1909; sold to Indianapolis in fall of 1909 but was injured before reporting and joined Syracuse in 1910. Drafted by Philadelphia Nationals in 1911; pitched for the Phillies from 1911 to 1917; sold to Chicago Nationals, December 11, 1917, where he remained until released by the Cubs in August, this year, to the Cardinals.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the grandpa of major league pitchers, is the hero of the 1926 world's series. Winning two games and saving a third just when the Yanks were knocking at the door of a world's series victory was the wonder feat of this grand old man of the National League.

Thousands of fans standing in front of scoreboards and listening to the radio returns throughout the nation were on edge when the veteran stepped on the mound to relieve the wavering Jesse Haines in the seventh inning yesterday. Three Yankees on the bases, two out, and the Cards only one run in the lead. The old man fanned the hard-hitting Lazerri and as the third strike fights twinkled on the scoreboards just picture in your mind the wild scenes in America's baseball lands.

In August of the past season Alexander was fired by the management of the Chicago Cubs. Joe McCarthy, the Club pilot, suspended the old fellow for not living up to the training rules. Alex reported late at the Philly park one day when the Cubs were in Philadelphia. McCarthy suspended the veteran and sent him home with instructions to workout each day while the team was on the road. Several days later Chicago asked for waivers on Alexander and the St. Louis club was the first to put in a claim. The move brought a pennant to St. Louis, as it was the work of Alexander late in the season that decided the race.

Alexander cost the Cardinals only $4,000. Yesterday he saved the deciding game, pitched the Cardinals to a world's championship and the winning end of a $372,000 purse. There was a difference of more than $50,000 between the winners' and losers' share, which only goes to show that Grover Cleveland Alexander is one of baseball's greatest money pitchers.

Eleven years ago the Philadelphia Nationals won the pennant with a one-man pitching staff. He was Grover Cleveland Alexander, a young pitching star, who was the sensation of the national League. Twice he faced the Boston Red Sox in this series, the first game he won, 3 to 1; the second he lost, 2 to 1. Boston won four out of five games. Duffy Lewis was the hero of the series, but Alexander came in for much praise.

Price Doyle Returns.

Price Doyle left yesterday morning for Peru, Nebraska. Mrs. Doyle and baby will remain for a longer visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Strader.

Divorced Tuesday, Marries Saturday

A marriage license was issued late Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Mamie Clardy, recorder of deeds, to Willard Armstrong and Lucy Williams, both colored, of Maryville. They were married by Judge J. H. Sayler, justice of peace. The bride was granted a divorce from Herbert Vance in circuit court last Tuesday and her maiden name of Lucy Williams was ordered restored.
